ABSTRACT
This report mentions the philosophy that one person how to arrange his life. The first part mentions a basic living philosopher of a human being that is one should have a dream, and at the same time one should also need to work hard. Making a dream and working hard should parallel in every daily day. At the same time, it is very important to keep in mind that one should work hard to push the dream coming true. 考試院長許水德先生 uses the irrigation watermill in the farm paddy field as an example to illustrate this philosophy. The second part of this report mentions how a wife how to control his husband, subsequently this reign in from the wife would not cost the success of her husband. The aforementioned control should not too strict or too loose. Strictly control would make the husband have no space to extend his talent. If no restriction at all, the husband might abandon the family.

Keywords: Life philosophy, dream, a wife and a husband

REFERENCES
[1] 許水德 biography official website
[2] 許水德 Wikipedia official website。